Premier Coal workers volunteer for roadside clean-up

Premier Coal workers got their hands dirty as part of the annual Rotary Club of Collie's Roadside Clean-Up program, collecting rubbish along Coalfields Highway and Premier Road, Collie on Wednesday 4 September.

The Rotary Roadside Clean-up program aims to improve the appearance of the roadsides in the community with volunteers picking up litter and large rubbish.

It proved to be grubby work with the team collecting around 40 bags of rubbish plus other items including car parts, tyres, scrap metal, drink containers and takeaway packaging including endless empty coffee cups.

Premier Coal Operations Manager, Braedon Gaske was proud of his team's hard work.

"Many of us feel frustrated when we see litter on the side of the road and our team were happy to volunteer to help pick it up and improve our natural environment.

"Around 30 of our people took the time out of their day to get their hands dirty and help clean up several kilometres of road including Coalfields Highway, Premier Road and Tom Bailey Drive through to the Collie River at Buckingham.

"Our community is very important to all of us so we were pleased we could spend some time improving the roadsides we drive every day and making a positive difference in the lives of the people who work and live in our area," said Braedon.
